COMBINATION OF DEPARTMENTS OF CITY, HIS SCHEME

Mott-Smith Suggests to Board They All Be Put Under Engineer's Office

Combining of the various city departments under the city engineer's office and renaming them the department of public works was the suggestion of Supervisor E. A. Mott-Smith at a meeting of the board of supervisors last night. This is apparently a step toward municipal management, and although Mr. Mott-Smith neither introduced a motion nor asked the supervisors to act on his idea then, he informed them that he would ask for action at some subsequent meeting. Apparently the other supervisors are not in favor of Mr. Mott-Smith's plan, as his talk was received with astonishment and demands for copies of the suggestion.

The routine business of the board had been accomplished, and the supervisors were discussing at great length the books and whens of the Liberty Bond, when one suggestion to adjourn was made. Before the suggestion could be put to a motion Mott-Smith took the floor and sprung his surprise. He announced that he was not making a motion, but wanted to give his colleagues time to talk the matter over and discuss it at the next meeting.

Mr. Mott-Smith plans to bring together and combine under the department of the city engineer the water and sewer, garbage, street sweeping, parks and playgrounds, public buildings, roads, streets and highways departments. This new department will be known as the department of public works. Mr. Mott-Smith is in favor of dissolving the police and fire departments, as they are entirely separate and distinct, and he also believes a health department should handle all matters of health and sanitation. His idea is to have but four departments to the city government, namely, the police department, the fire department, the department of public works and the bureau of health.

He said this is following out the idea which is being successfully worked in many of the large eastern cities. There the police and fire departments are combined as the department of public safety and are under the control of the director of public safety. The chiefs, of course, look after the duties of the separate forces. The bureau of health and the department of public works are each under the control of a director.

The supervisors will probably discuss the new scheme at their next meeting. Many interested persons who were present last night were in favor of Mott-Smith's idea. City management has worked successfully in the progressive eastern cities and there is no reason why it should not be tried out in Honolulu, was the opinion expressed.

Because the grounds and buildings at Maemae and Pohukaina schools were being used for gambling and other questionable practices the board last night rescinded the privilege of passing through or playing on school property. Heretofore the public has been permitted to pass through school yards, but by the action of the board one is now liable to trespass. The action was taken at the request of Superintendent of Parks A. K. Vierra, who will draft an ordinance to cover the question.

The Lord-Young Engineering Company was awarded the final contract for the Beretania street improvement from Alapala to Punahou streets. The awarding of the contract was the appointment of Bandmaster R. H. Baker was deferred.

THEATRICAL OFFERINGS

PORTUGUESE TO GIVE CONCERT

A concert is to be given the night of Saturday, October 20, at the Mission Memorial Hall, by the A Patria Society. This concert is for the benefit of the Portuguese language school that was recently instituted in Honolulu.

The principal feature on the program is a comedy, "The Sacrifice of Love," given by a group of Spanish players. This is a novelty in Honolulu dramatic circles.

Another attraction is a musical series by the Rodriguez family. These local folk offer many numbers, both vocal and instrumental. There will be a flute solo by James Rodriguez, piano solo and song by Marceline Rodriguez, songs by Marie Rodriguez, a whistling solo by Fred Rodriguez, accompanied by his sister Marie at the piano, and a flute and violin duet by James and James Jr. Rodriguez, accompanied by Marie Rodriguez at the piano. The Y. M. C. A. orchestra will play. There will be monologues by J. Fernandez, of which several will be in English and many other features that will go toward making the entertainment of interest to all.

'THE HIGHWAY OF HOPE' AT LIBERTY

Oliver Morosco, producer; Willard Mack, author; Kathryn Williams and House Peters, costars, is the array of talent that presents itself to the audiences at the Liberty theater during the run of "The Highway of Hope," a Morosco-Paramount romantic drama, out of the ordinary as is usually the case with anything in which Morosco has a hand.

Kathryn Williams, who originally appeared as a dare-devil in serial photodrama, especially those dealing with wild animals, has become one of the leading dramatic actresses on the screen today and has a following that many stars might easily be jealous of. Peters is one of the leading male stars of the screen, a talented and careful actor. Mack is one of the vaudeville head-liners on "big time" and the author of a number of popular vaudeville sketches, plays and scenarios.

"The Highway of Hope" is the trail that led from East to West in the early days of "Gold in California," in the days before the railroads saw the possibilities of development west of the Mississippi river. It is a time that lends itself to romance and action and this offering contains a large amount of each.

CHAPLIN STILL HAWAII FAVORITE

Charlie Chaplin's recent tour of Hawaii has drawn to a close and C. C. has departed for the mainland and other screen conquests. His most recent tour of the local screen at the Hawaii theater likewise is rapidly drawing to a close and anyone who has not yet seen this wonderful little comedian in "The Fireman" will have but few opportunities as "The Fireman" closes at the Hawaii tomorrow evening after a most successful week's business.

"The Fireman" is just another of those comedies that are thrown together for the purpose of allowing Chaplin to perform. It is reported that, aside from a trifling plot, no particular effort is made at scenario writing but that Chaplin does his work as he arrives at the proper point. The consequence is that the author and director are frequently startled with some of the antics of the comedian. The same is true of his audiences, who girdle the world.

June Caprice in "A Child of the Wild" presents an exceptionally strong Fox drama with one of those popular settings in the Southland. This star is one of the best Fox sends to the Hawaii.

DRAMATIC CLUB OF COLLEGE TO PRESENT PLAY

"The Glory of Their Years," a Three-Act Drama, Is Planned for Thanksgiving Week

The College of Hawaii Dramatic Club will present "The Glory of Their Years," a three-act drama by C. R. Froome, either during Thanksgiving week, or the week following. This play is the work that gave Mr. Froome the Macdowell fellowship to Harvard University.

The most significant fact about "The Glory of Their Years" is that it is a college play written in a college competition, is given a college fellowship, and was given its first presentation by the class in dramatics conducted by Professor G. P. Baker of Harvard, whose "Forty-seven Workshop Company" has done more, probably than any other single organization in America to stimulate an interest in playwriting and the actual production of plays. It was one of Professor Baker's pupils, Mr. Sheldon, who wrote "The Nigger" (Believe Me Nantippe) was also written in class by one of Professor Baker's pupils. The Macdowell fellowship is a prize of $500 offered in competition for a play of an amateur playwright.

During the summer of 1936 Professor Baker presented this play in the Hasty Pudding club of Harvard, assisted by students in the summer course in dramatics. Dr. Andrews was doing some special work in Harvard at the time, and was so favorably impressed by the work that he asked Professor Baker if it would be possible to obtain the play, but was told that there were certain ways in which the play might be reconstructed to better advantage. He advised waiting until such improvement could be made. During the last year Mr. Froome has been re-writing the play under Professor Baker's direction.

Mr. Froome has recently been in communication with Dr. Andrews. After satisfactory arrangements for a royalty were made the manuscript in its revised form has been forwarded, and the students of the college are now in competition for the characters.

A very interesting situation in regard to the play has arisen in other negotiations of Mr. Froome with certain Broadway managers, to whom also he has sent a manuscript, and there is more than a possibility that "The Glory of Their Years" will appear some time this winter on Broadway, not, however, before the College of Hawaii Dramatic Club will give the first production of this work in its present dramatic form. There is every reason to believe that Mr. Froome is a young man with a splendid future before him, and that in the production of this play the College of Hawaii is taking part in the history of American dramatic literature.

STAR TWINKLES IN NEW WRINKLE

Izzy was there. "Izzy at the Seaside" was the title of the musical comedy produced last night at the Bijou Theatre by the Monte Carter Company, and Izzy was there, and there like a duck. But he had to share honors last night with Helene Woods (you know that pretty one third from the right end of the row), who gave a little imitation of a steel guitar that went big. Helene was just a little bit bashful about getting out into the limelight at first, but when the audience clapped his hands, stamped his feet and yelled for more she lost her shyness and performed wonderfully. All she did was give an imitation of "Aloha" played on a steel guitar, but it was so good that she had to repeat and repeat it before the audience would allow her to stop.

The big hit came when the chicks sang "On the Way to Waikiki." Ethel Davis led the first number and the Monte Carter Trio, situated in the bleacher seats, rendered the second verse. Then Helene Woods followed with her performance and "Izzy at the Seaside" turned from an ordinary success into a whirlwind of applause. Carter was his usual self, just as clever, just as funny and just as entertaining as ever. The show should be a good drawing card, and judging by the crowd that packed the place last night it will also play to big audiences tonight.

Screen Stars Have Glasses Made Here

Dr. R. A. Thompson, eye specialist, who is visiting Honolulu, has added another distinguished name to the long list of notables to whom he has furnished glasses. "Charlie" Chaplin, the screen star, is his latest client. Dr. Thompson made glasses for the star and his leading lady, Miss Purviance, while the couple were in Honolulu. In a highly complimentary letter Mr. Chaplin thanked the doctor for making the glasses and in devoting his skill and knowledge in having the glasses ready before his departure. He says the glasses will add to the long list of things he has secured as remembrances of Hawaii.

Dr. Thompson has furnished glasses to a number of prominent persons. The list includes ex-President William Howard Taft, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Charles Evans Hughes, William Jennings Bryan, Samuel Gompers and the late Elbert Hubbard.

Dr. Thompson has been taken by Honolulu's charms and announced today that he will locate permanently in this city and will open one of the largest and most modern optical institutions in the territory.—Adv.
